

Proposed Whole Life Custody (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Bill to give Scottish courts the power to sentence the worst criminals to custody for the rest of their lives. The consultation runs from 29 May 2019 to 30 August 2019. All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. Aim and approach

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of giving Scottish courts the power to sentence the worst criminals to custody for the rest of their lives?

Fully opposed

Please explain the reasons for your response.

My belief is that no person is beyond redemption. Society should never give up on the need to rehabilitate an individual. An individual without hope would be a nightmare inside the prison and they would be an increased risk of hurting both themselves and others within the prison environment.

Q2. How would introducing Whole Life Custody Sentences affect your level of confidence in the Scottish justice system?

Significantly less confident in the justice system

Please explain the reasons for your response

It is based on an individual never changing, so why should they change. It is likely to cement any mistakes made by the courts and increase injustice. It feeds on the emotions for vengeance, which will never fully be satisfied.

Q3. Which types of murder should have a Whole Life Custody Sentence as the starting point for sentencing? (Choose all that apply)

None of the above

Please explain the reasons for your response

It will create further injustice. Why is the murder of a public servant like a nurse or doctor in the course of their duty less heinous than that of a police or prison officer?

Q4. Which sexual offences should have a Whole Life Custody Sentence as the starting point for sentencing? (Choose all that apply)

None of the above

Q5. Are there any other types of offence (other than murder or certain sexual offences) which should attract a Whole Life Custody Sentence as a 'starting point' for sentencing?

No- no offences (including murder or sexual offences) should attract a Whole Life Custody Sentence

Q6. Which of the following best expresses your view on whether whole life custody should be a sentencing option for younger offenders?

Whole life custody should not be an option for any offender, regardless of age

Financial Implications

Q7. Taking account of both costs and potential savings, what financial impact would you expect the proposed Bill to have? Please explain the reasons for your response.

I would expect the costs to rise. Managing a prisoner with no hope will be higher. They are likely to require higher levels of staffing and restraint. Further assaults on staff, including those leading to murder, will have no increase in the sentence. Certain prisoners could even seek out this status. It is potentially very dangerous and could reinforce a prisoner's negative views.

Equalities

Q8. What overall impact is the proposed Bill likely to have on equality, taking account of the following protected characteristics (under the Equality Act 2010): age, disability, gender re-assignment, maternity and pregnancy, marriage and civil partnership, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation?

Neutral (neither positive nor negative)

Sustainability

Q9. Do you consider that the proposed Bill can be delivered sustainably, i.e. without having likely future disproportionate economic, social and/or environmental impacts?

No

Q9. Do you consider that the proposed Bill can be delivered sustainably, i.e. without having likely future disproportionate economic, social and/or environmental impacts?

Please explain the reasons for your response.

The prison population is set to reach a record high this summer. This fact, together with the level of under funding, should be an embarrassment to the Scottish Government. I think that focusing on this would be more likely to result in an increase in my faith in the justice system, especially when the prisons are populated with addicts, people struggling with mental illnesses and ex service personnel.

Q10. Do you have any other comments or suggestions on the proposal?
